

We used Fletcher's checksum for error detection, the reason why we used a checksum is because it's relatively easy to program. The checksum allows us to detect the required amount of bit flips. To solve the acknowledgements and in order problem, we forced the client to use a stop-and-wait protocol.